VII. OTHER

AVM Tanner briefed the Commission on the status of the new PSO examination process and informed the Commission that one applicant stated he is unavailable for the pre-employment assessment center process due to voluntary participation in a military competition. AVM Tanner explained she inquired as to whether the assessment center could be offered at another time, and learned that it cannot. She said that Village Attorney Mark Burkland advised that the Commission is not required to provide any type of scheduling accommodation and that the applicant may need to choose whether he will participate in the required assessment center examination element or withdraw from the examination process. The Commission acknowledged that the Village attempted to determine whether there was an alternative for holding the assessment center and that it supported this direction.
