The Development Review Process

The following outlines the development review process. The guide describes the relevant reviewing bodies for planning and development projects in the City and includes estimated timelines for such proposals. It outlines the planning and zoning approval process and the applications and other materials needed. This is followed by an overview of the approval process of other permits and licenses necessary throughout the development project, including building and construction permits, rental licenses, and building licenses.

The flowchart (pg. 4) covers planning and zoning applications. These applications require a multi-step review process, including staff review, various commission and board reviews, public hearings and Planning Commission (PC) review, and City Commission (CC) review and action. In addition, the flowchart includes the building and construction permits that need to be obtained in order to implement the approved project. The City of Big Rapids contracts with Mecosta County for all building inspection duties.

The flowchart (pg. 4) outlines the development approval process followed in the City of Big Rapids. The diagram includes required and recommended meetings and actions, and outlines the boards and commissions required to review development applications. Depending on the nature of the project, multiple city departments will review the proposed project. In general, most building constructions and land modifications require a site plan application and depending on the use may also require a conditional use permit. A conditional use permit could also be required where a simple change of use is proposed for a building where no construction is occurring. A single project could require both a site plan and conditional use permit application or just one or the other.

Reviewing Bodies for Development Applications and timeline

The City's Zoning Ordinance outlines the procedures for development applications. Depending on the nature and location of the project, select City boards and commissions will review the project. These groups are advisory boards to the City Commission and provide recommendations to the City Commission. The relevant boards and commissions are described below, including meeting dates and times. Meetings take place at City Hall, 226 N Michigan Avenue, Big Rapids, MI 49307.

- Planning Commission creates and updates the Master Plan and reviews rezoning requests, site plans, conditional use permits, and other land use applications.
 - Third Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.
- Zoning Board of Appeals interprets and grants variances from provisions of the Zoning Ordinance; conducts hearings and resolves disputes regarding decisions of the Zoning Administrator.
 - Fourth Thursday at 7:00 p.m., as needed
- Brownfield Redevelopment Authority assists development projects that encounter economic challenges due to environmental constraints.
 - Third Tuesday at 3:00 p.m., as needed
- Downtown Development Authority manages ongoing maintenance, security and promotion of economic activity and continual operation of the downtown district.
 - First Thursday in Jan., April, July, and Oct. at 8:00 a.m.

The timeline for the approval process of development applications depends on the schedule of each board and commission that needs to review the project, the public notice requirements in each case, and the publication time for media release. In general, the entire approval process could take 21 to 90 days for a site plan application.

Pre-Application Meeting

The prospective developer(s) or representative(s) of an entity wishing to (re)develop a property in the City is encouraged to meet with the City's Community Development Director prior to the official application being submitted. Contact Michelle Stenger at 231-592-4035 to schedule a free consultation.

Depending on the type and scale of the project, it may be helpful to submit conceptual drawings to the Community Development Department two (2) weeks prior to the conceptual meeting for staff to review in advance. Drawings may be dispersed to other appropriate departments, such as fire and Public Works, for review and comments. Applicable staff from other departments may also attend the conceptual meeting.

During the meeting, the developer may outline the proposed development idea and any initial conceptual architectural designs available. The staff will provide the developer with background information on the site, previous plans submitted, the community vision for the site, an overall opinion of the proposed idea, and a description of the approval process and timeline. Also during this meeting, especially for larger projects, the City staff may encourage the developer to seek the opinion of the community most affected by the proposed project. City staff can provide contact information for relevant neighborhood associations and other groups of interest. Staff may attend those meetings in order to answer questions from the community with regard to zoning regulations and the Master Plan as it relates to the proposed project.

Community Vision: The Master Plan

The Master Plan is one of the primary tools used by the City of Big Rapids to make decisions affecting the future land use of the community. A Master Plan is a broad-based policy document for the physical, economic, and social development of the city as it relates to land use. It has a long-range perspective that provides a coordinated approach to making important decisions. Prospective developers use the City's Master Plan to make sure the proposed project helps fulfill the goals of the plan.

Additional plans have been created to supplement the Master Plan.

After the Planning Commission takes action and makes a recommendation, the City Commission shall do one of the following:

1. Approve the Conditional Use Permit and Site Plan
2. Approve the Conditional Use Permit and Site Plan with conditions
3. Deny the Conditional Use Permit and Site Plan

No application for a Conditional Use which has been denied wholly or in part by the City Commission shall be resubmitted for a period of one (1) year from the date of said order of denial, except on the grounds of new evidence or proof of change or conditions found to be valid by the Planning Commission and the City Commission.
