PUBLIC HEARING

Mayor Turner stated the purpose of the hearing is to hear comments from the public to help the Mayor and Council determine the millage rate for the city for the 2023-2024 budget year. He stated the following:

- Following assessments from the Board of Assessors, municipalities and counties are required to have hearings unless the jurisdiction automatically approves the full rollback.
- A notice of property tax increase is required due to a possible increase because even a drop in the millage rate without taking the full rollback will still increase property taxes because of the growth of the net tax digest over the past 12 months.

- City staff initiated the process by advertising the intent to retain the current millage rate of 5.056 to allow the Council to consider the following options:
 - Retaining the current rate
 - Approving a partial rollback
 - Approving a full rollback
- With an advertised rate of 5.056, the Council will take no action that would result in a higher millage rate than the rate as advertised in the county's legal organ.
- Retaining the millage rate will result in an increase of .456 mills over the rollback rate.
- The proposed tax increase for a home with a fair market value of $150,000 will be approximately $17.10 and for a home with a fair market value of $250,000 it will be approximately $28.50.
- Notice has been posted as required by state law at City Hall and submitted to local media outlets including the county's legal organ as well as the city's website.

4. Third Public Hearing 2023 Millage Rate and Digest

Mr. Harris presented the proposed options for the 2023 millage rate. He discussed the following:

- Real property tax
- Local Option Sales Tax (LOST) Collections
- General Fund department expenditures
- Georgia Department of Revenue information regarding the decrease to tax revenues
- The 2023 Tax Digest and 5 Year History of Levy
- Existing needs of the city

Mayor Turner gave the Public Hearing instructions.

Tedi Boling, 575 Campbell Street, addressed the Mayor and Council Members stating that she is in favor of a partial rollback.

Mayor Turner closed the Public Hearing.
