Water Quality Program

Q: How do I wash my car and prevent pollution?

A: You can wash your car and prevent stormwater pollution if you:

- Park the car on grass or an area where the water can filter into the ground and not run off to the storm drain. If the driveway drains to an area where it can infiltrate, that works too.
- Divert the drainage away from the storm drain.
- Use a hose with a shut-off valve to reduce possible runoff from the grassy area.
- Dump your soapy water out in the sink or on an area where it will filter into the ground.
- If you don't have a good place at home to wash your car, we ask you to take it to a commercial car wash (either self-serve or machine wash) where the wash water drains to the sanitary sewer.

Q: Is the city or county going to fine me for washing my car in my driveway?

A: Ecology recommends that the cities and counties take a public education approach to residential car washing. Over time, we expect to see people change, just as we did with littering and recycling, but it takes time and public education.

Q: What about all the fundraising car washes for schools, youth groups, and churches?

A: Local governments will provide education to those groups as well, and many already have programs to promote fundraising car washes in ways that avoid pollution, for example:

- Many local governments lend out pump kits at no cost. The equipment can temporarily plug the storm drain and pump the wash water to the sanitary sewer inlet.
- Bay for the Day - Some local governments have a list of self-serve car washes with car wash bays available to rent at low cost for a charity car wash.
- Coupon sales for a local commercial car wash. Local governments have a list of commercial car washes that provide coupons to sell at a discount.
- Arrange to locate the car wash where the discharge will disperse across a grassy area and filter into the ground.

HELPLINE@SONBRIDGE

SonBridge Center for Better Living invites you to our Open House: Celebrating Helpline's 50 years of Service.

Since January when Helpline moved to SonBridge, we have been honored to assist people in even more ways than in the past. You'll hear about the history, miracles and stories of Helpline and SonBridge. Tours of our facility will be given and you will learn about the programs, resources and services we provide. Come on Sunday, September 10 between 1:00 pm to 4:00 pm. We'll have food, games for children and giveaways. Join us at 1200 SE 12th Street, College Place. For more information, call 509-529-3100 or visit sonbridge.org. All are invited!
