

United Way
of Delaware County

Genoa Township celebrated the grand opening of their new Born Learning Trail located at Freeman Road park November 18 at 3 PM. Part of the United Way of Delaware County Strengthening Families Initiative, the trail is part of a series of 8 sponsored by the Women's Leadership Network located throughout Delaware County. This trail is co-sponsored by Annie and Jay Martin.

Born Learning is an innovative public engagement campaign that helps parents, caregivers and communities create quality early learning opportunities for young children. Children begin learning right at birth. It's constant and what they learn will impact not only their lives, but the lives of everyone in their community.

As part of the United Way of Delaware County's Strengthening Families Initiative, Born Learning Trails offer ten activity stations with interactive games that parents, grandparents and caregivers can play with young children. Each station encourages families to get active and interact with children while building their pre-literacy, gross motor and problem-solving skills.

For more information on this event, contact United Way of Delaware County's Collective Impact Specialist, Kelsey Fox, at 330-719-4328.