Jim,

Thank you very much. I appreciate it greatly. I was on scene the day of the parade. It has been a hard couple of days, we are lucky to have dedicated first responders and a great community around us. I am so sorry to hear about the Waukesha parade, its hard being at the scene of any tragedy like these. I hope you're staying safe.

Deysi,

Hope all is good. So sad to see what happened on the 4th. I was at the parade in Waukesha when the car went through the parade. Very sad. Let me know if you need anything from CMC.

Thanks,

Subject: Statue of Limitations for City of Highland Park

Good morning Jim,

We had to do some research on our end and ask our counsel about the statute of limitations for things in collections. This is the response received from our corporate counsel.

"There's a new state law (effective last summer) that sets a 7-year statute of limitations for lawsuits to collect debts arising from municipal code violations. That would affect collecting judgments for administrative hearing fines. It may not affect invoices for other (non-Code-related) debts.

We can still try to collect debts after 7 years, but we would not have the ultimate ability to sue the debtor."

So, we do not have a limit on when we can pursue debt but we cannot sue the debtor after 7 years.

Good morning,

I wanted to reach out as a business owner to say thank you for all that the city is doing for this investigation.

I wondered if you can shed light on whether or not we would be able to reopen Friday or Saturday of this week. If not we just want to contact each client to reschedule them remotely. I know you may not know for sure but it would help as we are by appointment to give patrons an answer sooner than the night before.

On another note I have a renter who went to the elm and 2nd street side last night and claims she spoke with an officer who was allowing many people to go in and out of 2nd st. I did call the HP police non emergency to ask if they were opening that part of the street as she claimed happened last night. I was told that no it is not and that should not have happened. I said to maybe have heavier presence there to be sure that doesn't happen again. I wanted my renter not to do it again or any other curious people who do not think that was a "big deal" to walk through the obvious taped off area.

I say all of this to help you know what is going on and to get some clarification for the next few days. I do not want to disturb the investigation at all!

I do appreciate any and all direction you may have for us.

Thank you,

Attention reporters, editors, and assignment desk editors:

Attached is a press release/resource guide from the National Mass Violence Victimization Resource Center. We hope you find it useful in the aftermath of the tragedy in Highland Park, IL.

A statement from National Mass Violence Victimization Resource Center:

“We at the National Mass Violence Victimization Resource Center share in the great sorrow of the community of Highland Park and the broader Lake County and Chicago community following the devastating attack on the July 4th parade on Monday. Along with the entire Nation, we grieve for the community and for the families of the seven people who were senselessly murdered and dozens of others who were physically injured in this heinous act. A day that was meant to be spent celebrating America with friends and family was turned into a tragic personal nightmare for the victims, survivors, witnesses, and the entire community. Furthermore, we know that events like the Highland Park parade mass shooting can affect everyone’s sense of safety, and may be a trauma cue for people who have previously experienced similar events or other types of victimization.

We have put together resources that we hope will be helpful to everyone in Highland Park and the surrounding communities. Our Center’s free self-help app, TRANSCEND – NMVC, may be particularly helpful to victims and survivors as they begin their difficult journey toward recovery and resilience.

Please visit the many resources on our website that support mass violence victims, survivors, witnesses and those who assist them.”

Good morning,

A family in Lake Forest coordinated a Dominoes gift card drive for us. They raised $2830. The gift card is attached.

Please let me know if and when to strategically utilize this. I would be happy to coordinate the logistics of purchase and delivery.

I don't want to order too early if food donations from elsewhere are still rolling in – that seems like a waste.

[EXTERNAL EMAIL]

It was reported on national TV that police officers refused to assume responsibility for the safety of a toddler who was orphaned after the roof top shooter killed both parents. It was reported they said they didn't have time to be a babysitter.

I would be willing to come to Highland Park (at my own expense) to provide training for your insensitive officers who do not know the difference between baby sitting and assuming responsibility for the safety of a child.

Joe -

I am sure you are inundated with all types of communications but I need to reach out to you by sending this.

On Monday morning after seeing you at the parade kickoff Jody and I walked the parade route as we always have and found ourselves in front of Sweet Home Gelato when the shooting started. We ducked into the doorway and then took shelter in Gearhead when the shooting ceased. The staff there was outstanding in providing shelter to many, and Jody and I (and our dog Bear) did what we could to assist.

The purpose of this email is to commend you and your entire department on their actions on Monday. I watched the entire response from Gearhead (although I should have probably moved to the basement with many others) and could not be more proud of you and your entire team as they arrived quickly and worked so very hard to deal with the tragedy that unfolded before us. I know you train for this and have seen firsthand how hard everyone in the department prepares for any situation, but events like this and HPFD's reaction demonstrates how professional our department is and how very special it is to have you all here in our city.

Obviously I wish this tragedy had never happened, but I am so very grateful that we have you and your team here to protect and care for us.

With great pride and appreciation
Dean

Entry for Counseling Services at HPHS moves to H-Entrance; FBI Releases More Information about Picking Up Personal Effects

July 7, 2022 | 7:35 a.m.

Dear 113 Community,

There are two updates to share with you this morning regarding counseling services and the FBI's Family Assistance Center (FAC) at Highland Park High School.

1. The entrance to receive services at Highland Park High School has moved from the main entrance on Vine Street to the H-Entrance. The H-Entrance is on the north side of the school, near St. Johns Avenue and Woodpath Lane. Only the H-Entrance will be open. All visitors will check in at the H-Entrance and per school standard operating procedures, anyone who is not a current District 113 student or staff member who wishes to take advantage of counseling services will need to have a valid driver's license to be cleared to enter the school.
2. The FBI has released a map and information about personal effects from the parade route that have been cleared for pick up at Highland Park High School. That information can be found via Twitter at @FBIChicago, or by clicking on the two attached images. When District 113 receives the attached files in the appropriate format, the files will be posted on the District 113 website.

As a reminder:

- Today's hours at Highland Park High School are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
- At Deerfield High School, counseling services will also be available during Summer School hours for District 113 students and staff only.
- North Shore School District 112 will be offering counseling services at NSSD 112 locations for NSSD 112 families, and the details are in this communication.

Hi Jocelin,

Life is ironic, I wanted to raise money for orphans in South America but last night I found out that a HP toddler has become an orphan due to the 4 of July's tragedy. I can't believe the shooter killed both his parents; his father used his own body to shield him :o(

(No money, just new or gently used shoes for adults and kids) All the proceeds will go to help raise this innocent child. The organization sends the shoes to 3rd world countries.

God is good, rather than multiplying fish and bread, I've asked God to help me multiply shoes :o)

I live in HP but would be willing to pick up the shoes from you. I have until August to fill my garage with shoes.

How a traumatic event can affect you

A traumatic event is any situation that causes a person to experience unusually strong emotional reactions that have the potential to interfere with their ability to function normally at work or at home.

How we react to specific events depends on many things. For example, personal proximity to this traumatic event, if you have previously experienced a traumatic event in your life, or if your present life circumstances are stressful or unstable, you may react more strongly than others. You may find that you have reactions even though you have not been directly involved in the incident.

Recognizing the normal and natural reactions to traumatic events is the first step to being able to cope with the personal aftermath of trauma. The following information will help you understand the reactions you may be experiencing right now and may encounter in the coming days and weeks, and includes helpful strategies to help you get through this challenging period.

Different stages of coping

- Immediately after the experience, you are likely to be in shock, experiencing numbness and feeling out of touch with reality.
- You may become fearful and feel exhausted. This may last a few days or up to a week.
- After a while, you may believe you have mastered your feelings, but later find that the same early emotions keep returning from time to time. Some people describe this feeling as though they are on an emotional roller-coaster. Gradually, feelings of fear decrease in intensity and return less frequently.

Common reactions

- Feeling exhausted for no particular reason

- Difficult or broken sleep patterns
- Lack of energy for normal activities
- Difficulty concentrating on or remember everyday tasks
- Feeling that the normal demands of work and home are overwhelming so you have time to collect your thoughts
- Easily irritated by little things, such as noise
- Abuse of alcohol or drugs, particularly in reaction to difficult emotions or for help in falling asleep

Learning to cope

- Engage in activities you enjoy
- Spend time with good friends and loved ones
- Eat healthy foods and get plenty of rest
- Exercise regularly and listen to your body's needs
- Refrain from using cigarettes, alcohol and drugs
- Talk to others who have experienced a similar event
- Reach out to spiritual leaders and doctors who can also provide good sources of support
- Talk about your feelings with family and friends and share the above information with them so they can also understand your experience
- Talk to others who experienced the event as they may have similar feelings and insight

Tips for helping your child through a traumatic event

Children do not have the ability to communicate worries or concerns through words. They just don't have the vocabulary. Teens have the vocabulary, however, they may lack the maturity and life experience to properly identify the feelings that they are having. Both children and teens are impacted by the influences that surround them.

For a parent or guardian, a traumatic event is frightening. It can be even more frightening and unsettling for children. Like the adults around them, they too experienced the same event. The children in your life have also been exposed to the same photographs, stories in print media and television images.

Children are like sponges, taking in the world. They are very aware when the adults around them are having a strong emotional reaction. They need to have their feelings validated. It is important to remember that a child not talking about an event does not mean that the event is forgotten or has no importance. Children and teens are more likely to express their reactions through their actions rather than words. Be attentive and take special care through this time of chaos and instability.

The children in your life need your reassurance that they are safe with you. It is important to let them know that it is healthy to express emotions and to let them out. During this time, children will likely be highly sensitive and attentive to the adult responses surrounding them.

The children in your care will need reassurance that their safety and security will be taken care of by the adults in their lives. They will need encouragement to express their concerns. An extra hug, talk time or five more minutes before bedtime are some examples of what you can do to encourage and reassure them. Let them tell you what they need by paying attention to what they are doing or asking for.

Potential reactions that you might see in your child

- Irritability, agitation, confusion
- Withdrawn, denial, sadness
- Sleep disturbance, nightmares

- Increased anxiety, intense fear
- Changes in appetite
- Distress due to work or travel related parental absence
- Testing house rules-dress, curfew, chores
- Quietness, less communicative
- Feelings of helplessness or anger
- More prone to accidents/clumsiness
- Verbal outbursts
- Poor concentration
- Return/increase of bed-wetting or other regressive behavior

The reactions are usually temporary and will often subside in three to six weeks. In the meantime though, these reactions can be uncomfortable, impacting concentration, productivity and even disrupting sleep patterns.

What you can do

- Don't leave your child alone in a new place
- Talk to your child about the disaster
- Encourage your child to talk
- Say it is OK to be afraid
- Tell your child about your plans each day
- Be attentive to media coverage adding to you and your child's anxiety/stress level
- Put order in your day as best you can
- Stay together to show you won't go away

- Hold and hug
- Listen
- Let them know that you were afraid too
- Reassure them that they're in a safe place
- As long as it can be done safely, let your child help clean up
- Explain, talk and listen frequently

Bedtime may be difficult. Your child may be afraid of the dark, not want to sleep away from you and/or may have nightmares or begin to wet the bed again.

What you can do at bedtime

- Explain why it gets dark
- Praise the child for good things
- Leave the light on and the door ajar
- Read to your child
- Talk about dreams
- Don't yell
- Agree on a time for your child to go to bed
- Tell a story about something good that happened that day

It is important to help your child externalize the feelings. Keeping reactions inside will only serve to have them go into hiding and come back when least expected. Also speak with other parents, caregivers, your child's teacher or school principal to discuss other ideas and suggestions, support and resources.

Taking care after a traumatic event

A traumatic event is any situation that causes a person to experience unusually strong emotional reactions that have the potential to interfere with their ability to function normally at work or at home.

When you are involved in or witness a traumatic event, your actions and the actions of those around you can be crucial in reducing the effects of the trauma. The 24 to 48 hours after an incident will ultimately affect the amount of reactive stress you'll experience. It can also impact the time needed to recover.

If the traumatic event affects your entire workplace, you may find comfort in knowing that you are not alone in your feelings. The attitude and support of both colleagues and supervisors in the workplace can be a critical aid to recovery.

Tips and tools you can use

If you are personally impacted by trauma and experience immense emotional pain, severe physical symptoms or have difficulty coping, talk to a health professional. While the effects of a traumatic event may sometimes last months or even years, there are some steps that can be taken immediately to help reduce the negative impact. Here are some points to think about:

- Try to maintain a normal routine as much as possible. This will help you rebuild a sense of security and safety.
- Try to exercise within the first 24 hours.
- Cut down on caffeine and tobacco and avoid alcohol and drugs.
- Reduce or limit your sugar intake. This will help you avoid the "slump" experienced after an already high-energy response.
- Eat food at regular mealtimes, even if you don't feel hungry.
- Aim for small helpings of nourishing foods.
- If your sleep is disturbed, get up and do something.

- Realize that emotional responses are normal reactions to a traumatic event. Whether you are angry, fearful, anxious, sad or disoriented, what you are experiencing is common.

You and your family

- Give yourselves time to heal.
- Ask for support from your family and friends.
- Keep a diary.
- Join a local support group.
- Establish or re-establish your routines.
- Avoid major life decisions.
- Become knowledgeable about the feelings you'll likely encounter as time goes by.

Reactions after the initial shock subsides

- Feelings may continue to be intense and unpredictable. Many people feel depressed or more irritable than usual.
- Repeated and vivid memories of the event are common.
- There may be continued difficulty concentrating or making decisions.
- Sleep and eating patterns may be disrupted.
- Recurring emotional reactions, like the sound of sirens, are common.
- Relationships may be strained.
- Social withdrawal may occur.
- Physical symptoms may accompany the stress.

Good morning Mayor Roterer,

My stepson is a Highland Park Fire Department Firefighter and Paramedic. The horrific act at the July 4th parade took place just 30 seconds behind the fire truck that he, his co workers and their families were in as part of the parade. His wife and children were also on that fire truck.

Those firefighters and paramedics were the first on the scene, assessing the carnage and tending to victims who had been shot and needed immediate attention. Saving lives.

I am proud of all the departments and brave men and women who assisted in getting those in need the help they needed, but I HAVE YET TO HEAR A SINGLE WORD OF ACKNOWLEDGEMENT of the bravery of the Highland Park Firefighter Paramedics. It seems that the Highland Park Police Department is the only entity that is being recognized.

Please make this right. Please give credit to these brave men who, without hesitation, walked away from their own families to help someone elses family.

Thank you.

Subject: RE: Critical incident crisis debriefing

Nancy, Algean and Marcia,

First thank you so much for everything you and the Family Service team are doing and continue to do for the City. My sincere apologies for dropping out of communication. I appreciate you working with Nick and the Highland Park team and making sure the team and the community are well supported during this difficult time.

Thank you again.

Warm regards,
Emily

Emily we are here for you... we will make any time work for you later in the week... and please let me know when you want someone at the senior center.

We are also going to set up a free walk in clinic for community. Working out details this AM. Nancy

Thank you so much for the amazingly supportive and fast response. My apologies for the delay in response, it has been busy here.

I talked with the group here, and I don't think we will be ready to have a debrief tonight. I was informed that the school districts are coordinating community sessions tomorrow, but we would like if possible to have a counselor available at the Senior Center tomorrow for the community if you have anyone available – we can be flexible on time. We would also like to set up a session or two for our staff later in the week if we can make that work.

Hi Nancy,

I think they need to do an immediate debriefing, just to talk through their feelings. I can come out tonight or lead via telehealth.

[EXTERNAL EMAIL]

Hello,

Under the Illinois Freedom of Information Act (5 ILCS 140), I am requesting access to ALL video and audio related to the mass shooting at the Highland Park 4th of July parade in 2022.

I understand HIPAA laws may require redaction to some documents. Should heavy redaction be necessary, please contact me to discuss prior to fulfilling the request.

In order to help you determine my status for the purpose of assessing fees, you should know that I am a representative of the news media affiliated with WTMJ TV in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and this request is made as part of news gathering and not for commercial use.

I am willing to pay fees for this request up to a maximum of $50. If you estimate that the fees will exceed this limit, please inform me first.

I request a waiver of all fees for this request. Disclosure of the requested information to me is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and this medical facility and is not primarily in my commercial interest.

I request that the information I seek be provided in electronic format, and I would like to receive it via email if possible.

I ask that my request receive expedited processing because I am a journalist working on deadline.

If you mean the first logo, I like that best too. I'd maybe change the green to HP blue and leave the grey, or make the grey part green and the rest blue. Not sure why we are using so much green.

How are you doing today?

Interfaith Service

Sunday, July 10 at 4:00 p.m.

Glencoe Union Church (263 Park Avenue)

Candlelight Vigil planned tonight at 7:45 PM at Sunset Woods, coordinated by Jordana Hozman and Liza Tack. I spoke to the organizer as did Commander O'Neill. We are encouraging individuals to coordinate vigils inside given that our resources are focused on the investigation and still managing the community. We are also depleting the generosity of our neighboring law enforcement agencies as we have a minimum of 12 different agencies providing support each day. I also spoke to Brian Romes and indicated that we are not issuing any special event permits at this time, particularly if the request is to close roadways or manage events. The group intends to move forward at Sunset park tonight but they agreed not to march around the downtown. They are also planning another event Saturday afternoon tentatively.

Ghida - I hate to say this but I don't like any of them and don't like the preferred one. The arm just looks strange.

I like the elegance of the HPstrong one several of us have been using but would change it to spelling out Highland Park and using our blue.

With logos, when one tries to make it too literal it just loses potency. And there are exclusionary implications. Are we indicating physical strength is strength? Of course not, but then why use a physical strength drawing?

If the font and colors convey strength we don't need an arm. Let the abstract artwork convey the message in a way that people can interpret Strong in any way they want.
