5.	La Casa, Inc. Presentation Justina Corral, Healing House Program Manager Melissa Mata, Director of Support Services Chelo Guerrero, Doña Ana County Misdemeanor Compliance Program Manager	Melissa Mata commented there was a PowerPoint presentation planned; however, due to the electric power going out, was not possible. Melissa Mata is the Director of Support Services in Las Cruces, NM. She did oversee Deming, NM and now she assists La Casa Inc. in Deming, NM. Justina Corral is La Casa Healing House Program Manager for Deming NM, she has been facilitating the in-person men’s class and has filled in for any classes for the last two years. Melissa Mata commented Chelo Guerrero from Doña Ana County is here to bring the same services provided in Doña Ana County to Deming, NM. The Behavior Intervention Program (BIP) is designed for anyone convicted of battery against a household member or anyone who wants to be self-referred is able to attend this program. The Children and Youth Department in Las Cruces, NM, the DWI Program and any other agency may refer to the (BIP). The mission of the program is to eliminate domestic violence by providing services to individuals who are perpetrating while promoting safety for victims. The program takes self-referrals and agency referrals which they provide agency reports that include the number of days attending, case management and crisis intervention. The program is 52 weeks long depending on the risk assessment it may be less time. The first step is the person is seen by a clinician for an assessment, consent forms are signed and there is a $75.00 fee. Then there is a Zoom meeting with the clinician and agency to go over the assessment results. Then referring agency knows if the person falls under the category of a victim or if they are eligible for the program. The clinician will determine if the person is eligible for the program based on the assessment results. Edith Vazquez asked how does the program determines the recommendation if someone is referred to the program. Melisa Mata responded the person has to do the initial intake assessment, the clinician sends a summary of the outcome, and then the referring agency presents the outcome to the court to see if they are appropriate for the Behavior Intervention Program or not. The Judge makes the final decision. With the DWI Program referrals, it is a different process due to the case being court-ordered. The Behavior Intervention Program provides case management and refers to anger management and

	Program Updates e. Screening, Treatment and Compliance Report By: Luis Ortega f. Prevention and Teen Court Report By: Cynthia Miller g. Other program updates by: Edith Vazquez	for the facility; however, there are opportunities for agencies to sponsor. Edith Vazquez mentioned that the Sheriff's Office provided $500.00 in the past through a grant. There were ideas discussed on how to provide incentives to the attendees of the Class Act to stay for the entire event to promote student safety. The update for the Safe Ride Program for the month of February there were 25 rides provided. The top establishment where Safe Rides were provided was the Adobe Deli. The grant application was submitted 95% of the distribution fund goes to salaries and 56% of the grant goes to salaries and benefits. The remaining 44% goes to program services including an evaluation for the DWI Program, travel for staff to attend trainings and treatment that includes aftercare when someone completes the DWI Program. The amount requested was $96,000.00 for the grant. This is more funding compared to last year's request. Edith Vazquez will keep the members updated on the amount received. The DWI simulator was received, software was added to improve teen driving and this will be available for youth also this will be offered to the driver's ed class. There was a discussion on whether to host the Trauma 101 and Working with Adolescent Substance Abuse trainings in-person in Luna County these trainings will consist of a full day for each training. The in-person trainings will consist of an additional expense of $1000.00 in travel for the training facilitator. The DWI Council members decided to host the trainings online to be more cost-effective and increase the availability of attendance. These trainings will be opened to the neighboring counties as well. Edith Vazquez commented that Bobby Brookhouser is also looking into bringing other trainings to Luna County.
8	Announcements a. Open for Comments	Sergio Lara announced that the Deming Police Department will be attending trainings for DWI checkpoints. They also collaborate with the New Mexico State Police on DWI checkpoints. The Deming Police Department is working on a trailer to have it painted or wrapped if possible. Edith Vazquez responded the purchase for the traffic cones and other safety equipment will be finalized for this budget and if the state opens a special application there will be an opportunity to purchase more items needed for DWI checkpoints. She said that she would definitely like to assist in building the unit. There was a discussion regarding more Drug Recognition Experts (DREs) needed to prove DWIs. Michael Renteria commented on proposed bills that did not pass such as: allowing blood draws on misdemeanors, blood draws are only allowed on felony cases. Michael Renteria commented there is a need to have a threshold number for DUI's like the state of Colorado has and the law passed to allow blood draws to prosecute cases since marijuana is legal in New Mexico. Edith Vazquez commented she attended some of the hearings and was surprised to find out some of the people passing bills were uninformed that the DWI Program covers treatment and what the DWI Program does in the community. Edith Vazquez has informed Senator Jennifer Jones of what services, resources and the work provided in the community that the DWI Program offers. Michael Renteria commented it good to inform our representatives and show our appreciation. Angelica Rodriguez announced the NM Community Survey there is a $100.00 giveaway every week and a $500.00 giveaway at the end of the survey for participants. She is especially seeking males ages 18-25 years of age to participate in the survey.
