Re: Meeting Schedule and Agendas

1. Next week's meeting schedule and agendas are attached. Of course, all of this information is available online, as it has been for decades at www.cityofmyrtlebeach.com. What's new is that we are now posting the supporting documents for the City Council agenda online. You can access them through the meeting schedule link, above, or...
  - For this week's agenda as an HTML file, see http://www.cityofmyrtlebeach.com/government/boards\_and\_committees/city\_council\_documents.php. Click on the "City Council Documents" link.
  - For the agenda and supporting documents as .pdfs, see http://www.cityofmyrtlebeach.com/government/boards\_and\_committees/city\_council\_documents.php. Click on "more" to view the supporting documents individually.
2. Christmas tree mulch is ready for the taking! Discarded Christmas trees were ground into mulch earlier this week. The mulch is available free to the public while it lasts.
3. The updated Events list is online at <http://www.cityofmyrtlebeach.com/Events.pdf>.
4. Speaking of events, remember the Craft Fair Food Drive this Sunday, February 11, at the General Robert H. Reed Recreation Center (formerly the Base Recreation Center). The fair features 100 exhibitors and their handmade crafts from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Admission is a non-perishable food item. Last year, the event raised 4,200 pounds of food for Low Country Food Bank and donations of $2,000! Now in its fourth year, the Craft Fair was conceived by Mickey Davis, a snowbird who spends her winters here in Myrtle Beach.

5. Changes to the solid waste collection zones take effect next week. With the additional residential growth in recent years, it's time to re-balance the four collection zones so that they have a roughly equal number of customers. The city is keeping the Monday-through-Thursday schedule, but 3,000 households are switching from one zone to another. Letters and hang tags went to each of the affected households. To see the new collection zones, visit <http://comb.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=53967126c35e4de78a5d053ba9581fd6>.

6. The City of Myrtle Beach put its staff and services on display at the Convention Center last Saturday during City Day, and that's the subject of our Photos of the Week. Everyone who attended learned something special about the city and its operations during this fun and informative event. From Public Works to Parks, Finance to Fire and Human Resources to Planning, all ages enjoyed learning why Myrtle Beach is "first in service."

7. Did you know... That Myrtle Beach city staff members worked 2,336,259 hours during calendar year 2017? And that doesn't include any extra time above 40 hours per week that exempt personnel worked.
