Discussion: Dennis Murray wanted to take a moment to recount the long history behind the renewal. This goes back to a committee in which Dick Brady served and Dave Waddington was also persuasive and effective in. It marks 10+ years in which the city has had this cooperation with the Sheriff's department and Perkins Township. This was the beginning of what is now a pretty established history of governments in Erie County getting along and cooperating with each other. It started at the grassroots level, meaning the firefighters and police officers working together cooperatively, across jurisdictions. We should not take this for granted. We are very lucky to be in this place where we are getting along with our neighbors, pull down costs for residents, and improve services. We need to remain open, in his opinion, to every avenue and opportunity for that cooperation going forward. That is the way we can best serve our constituents. Our former colleague and now, city manager of Huron, (Matt Lasko) had an excellent column the other day, where he spoke directly of these opportunities. He is so grateful to have the support of our surrounding communities and neighbors in these efforts, and he is especially pleased to be able to continue this in Sandusky.

Dick Brady said the name of that committee was called the “Police Participation Committee” and he thinks it is interesting looking back on that time, whether it was 2008, 2009, 2010, somewhere in that range. It is interesting that it was called the “Police Participation Committee,” there was one other entity participating at the time, the Erie County Sheriff’s Department, that is where Dispatch was going to be moved to. Since then, we have had great participation from a variety of places, including Huron, Perkins Township, Bayview, etc. So many other entities decided to throw in and come along. That is the best of government, when you can all work together for a common good. One of the common goods is saving each municipality a boat load of money. He thinks it has been successful in that regard and in response time. Looking back on that, it was certainly a worthwhile endeavor.

Mike Meinzer said he was involved in the first initiative for regional dispatch, and automatic aid, etc. He wondered if anyone is still working on automatic aid.

Jim Green said automatic dispatch with Perkins Fire and improving mutual aid with other areas is still a work in progress. They are working to develop the automatic aid. As far as getting dispatch to dispatch the closest vehicle in certain locations, and sending the call to the shift commander, we are hopefully getting to the point where hopefully, we achieve that. Meaning the dispatching will dispatch those appropriate units.

Mike Meinzer said it sounds like the same way that it was done in the 1960s. Progress continues, but he hopes the Sheriff’s department is attempting to make this work. The Fire department bought a lot of equipment and software. He would really like to see that initiative grab foot holding and take off, perhaps over the next four years.

Jim Green said they are working on it. Police Chief, Jared Oliver, was involved when he was employed at the county. He did a lot of work getting dispatchers, Sheriff Sigsworth, and others together. Dispatching has improved but it can always be bettered.

Jared Oliver said they dispatch for 19 different agencies now, between police and fire. Some of that automatic aid that Mike Meinzer spoke of is set up in different entities. Sandusky is the largest entity so it is a process. There is a lot of clerical data that has to go into it. The way it now, it is unwritten automatic aid, so if there is a residential or commercial fire, it is automatic. Perkins Township is called. It is not set up, generated to do it in the system yet, because the system is not working the way we thought it was going to. It is getting buttoned up as it goes. Dispatchers basically have the automatic aid thing down.

Roll call on the motion: Yeas: Mike Meinzer, Dave Waddington, Wes Poole, Blake Harris, Dennis Murray, Dick Brady, Naomi Twine, 7. Roll call on the ordinance: Yeas: Mike Meinzer, Dave Waddington, Wes Poole, Blake Harris, Dennis Murray, Dick Brady, Naomi Twine, 7. The President declared the resolution passed under suspension of the rules and in accordance with Section 14 of the city charter.

- The #RUNDUSKY Race Series is a partnership with Sandusky Rec and Firelands Regional Health System.

Discussion: Wes Poole asked about the emergency snow ban and clarification. He was under the impression that when there are two inches of snow, there is a snow ban. He would like a clear message to deliver to the public.

Aaron Klein clarified that Wes Poole is correct. When emergency snow ban is in effect, the public works department works in coordination with the police to get the cars removed. He apologizes for that error.

NEW BUSINESS

Dick Brady said Dennis Murray spoke of the need to improve the makeup of the city's volunteer boards and commissions, to a more diverse group. Diverse not just in age, race or gender, but diverse in their skillset, resumes, and connections in this community. The message resonated and the city received application from a variety of individuals. To make these selections, he consulted with staff, McKenzie Spriggs, and Eric Wobser, related to the work of each board and commission. With the goal of recruiting strong, new board members, while increasing the overall representation of the city's boards and commissions.

Those recommendations were shown on the screen and distributed ahead of time. Dick Brady did not read in its entirety, but shared aloud the new, incoming people: Alexis Miller, Finance Committee; Charles Kippie Loughlin, Tree Committee; Gregg Peugeot, Board of Zoning Appeals; Alexandria Esposito, Community Relations Committee; Nick Alexakos, Erie Regional Planning; Ryan Whaley, Landmarks Commission; Devon Johnson, Recreation Board; JaMarcus Hampton, Economic Development Incentive Council; Shawn Daley, Public Arts and Culture; Denis Martin Schmenk, Fire Prevention; Greg Schmid and Greg Zimmerman, Residential Building Code of Appeals.

Upon a motion of Dennis Murray and a second of Naomi Twine, the commission voted to accept all appointments as distributed.

Discussion: Dave Waddington asked when new names surface, which is great to see, could the commission receive a small bio or some background telling what they do and who they are. He would like to see that on city commission selections. That used to be sent out and he had no clue who some of these people were.

Wes Poole said he concurs with Dave Waddington. He saw the information just this morning and he recognized some of the names on the list but for the most part does not know much about them. He has no reason to oppose their appointments but in the future would like the commission to be part of the larger discussion. As he looks at all the applications from other folks, he realized there were a lot of applications, more than he is accustomed to seeing who have a great deal of education and expertise. There was one applicant from Norwalk, when looking at his resume, would have been an asset to us. He would like to consider how we can figure out a way to include the folks that didn't get selected, and incorporate them some way into the city.

Dick Brady said that was an excellent suggestion from Wes Poole and it is his intention to almost immediately, reach out to every person that applied to these position. He would like to express his thanks and encourage them to stay in the game, so to speak, as we do have people moving off boards for a variety of reason—work related, health related, etc. Dennis Murray's lobbying of the commission and the community was extremely successful, we got a host of excellent applications. That bodes well for our city and he is not going to turn a blind eye to any of those people. He is going to personally reach out to them, via phone call, to thank them for applying and to assure them, their talents are valuable to the city, and we hope to use them in the future.

Dennis Murray said over the years he has encountered different people who are very enthusiastic in various areas, and he encourages them to apply. He may get their email address, then ask the commission clerk to send them the application. All of the commissioners are representatives of the community, and he would encourage all the commissioners to do that. If they find someone enthusiastic about recreation or our trees and parks, there are all sorts of different ways to serve, and there is a ton of expertise out there. Sometimes it is a matter of just encouraging people to apply, so when we see that expertise and enthusiasm, we can take advantage of that.

Roll call on the motion: Yeas: Mike Meinzer, Dave Waddington, Wes Poole, Blake Harris, Dennis Murray, Dick Brady, Naomi Twine, 7. The President declared those appointments confirmed.

Dick Brady said one additional new appointment to make, he recommended Dennis Murray to serve as the liaison to the planning commission.

Upon a motion from Naomi Twine and second of Dave Waddington, the commission voted to accept the appointment of Dennis Murray to the liaison to the Planning Commission.

Discussion: Dennis Murray said it took a lot of arm twisting.

Dick Brady said he thought we would never get a second, but it finally did work out.

Dennis Murray said the second was not going to come from him, and he is still deciding how to vote on this recommendation.

Roll call on the motion: Yeas: Mike Meinzer, Dave Waddington, Wes Poole, Blake Harris, Dennis Murray, Dick Brady, Naomi Twine, 7. The President declared that appointment confirmed.

Blake Harris requested some stats in regards to those who applied, especially in regard to years past. He would like to see if the numbers went up, with the social media push and the help of the Sandusky Register. He hopes to layer on in future years.

McKenzie Spriggs said she would send something out to the commissioners.

Eric Wobser said anecdotally, we did see a lot more applications and interest this year. He would like to give a big thanks to all the city commissioners who pushed for that and to McKenzie Spriggs, who did a lot of work rallying internally. The commissioners made good points about getting that information out to the commission ahead of time. This was a broader process that was undertaken this year, and it was urged by the city commission. McKenzie Spriggs did a great job in her first year as commission clerk, coordinating all that. We will of course need to build on it and learn from it every year, but he was excited to see just how much interest was generated and how many applications came in this year.

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

Tim Schwanger, 362 Sheffield Way, Sandusky

My concerns this evening pertain to how the City Commission conducts Public Hearings under the revised Open Meeting Laws during the Covid-19 pandemic.

On March 3rd 2020, the Ohio Open Meeting Law was amended as, and I quote.

"When it (Public Government body) is conducting a public hearing, the public body also must utilize electronic equipment and technology which is widely available to the general public and which permits the public to converse with witnesses, and to receive documentary testimony and physical evidence".

A search of the City's webpage, the City's social media outlets and previous City Commission meetings do not indicate how the general public can call to join public hearings for verbal comment.

Please rectify this issue.

Discussion: Dick Brady asked Brendan Heil to research that law and make sure we are in compliance. If we are not, let's make a plan to get in compliance.

Brendan Heil said he understood and will do that.
