Crews are working diligently on fire perimeter and structure protection. Winds are changing constantly and those, combined with low humidity and high temperatures keep the fire spreading at dangerous speeds and in different directions. Over the next two weeks, the majority of our days are listed as red flag days, with high winds, which will continue to make suppression efforts difficult. As evacuations statuses change, do not wait for in-person notification to evacuate. If your neighborhood is listed below or you see it in an evacuation area on the map, we encourage you to take action immediately. This is a long-term event, and we don't anticipate having 'control' of this fire any time soon.
